SIMONDS Inc. is the leader in the design and manufacture of pneumatic hand tools. Designed for ergonomic benefits, Simonds tools help relieve injuries due to repetitive motion, reduce operator fatigue and lower product rejects.

Simonds tools are used in cutting gates on injection molded products, cut and bend wires on circuit boards and assist insertion of hose clamps. Our newest tool crimps and mechanically welds tubing using hydraulics, our first foray in to this field.

All tools are manufactured in the United States at our Massachusetts headquarters. Using tried and true manufacturing methods, Simonds tools outlast many tools on the market and quickly support return on investment.

The ergonomic issue of today's manufacturing has helped Simonds build tools that are used around the world. Conversion of standard hand tools to Simonds pneumatic tools on the production line can meet many of the ergonomic issues confronting a manufacturer today.
